USPA NEWS - SCOTTISH ICONS TEXAS TO HEADLINE CONCERT IN THE GARDENS.

MARKS BAND'S FIRST HOGMANAY APPEARANCE SINCE 2005.

CELEBRATING THREE-AND-A-HALF DECADES OF TEXAS WITH A GREATEST HITS SET.

4-DAY FESTIVAL PROGRAMME RETURNS FOR 2024/25 HOGMANAY CELEBRATIONS.

Organisers of Edinburgh's Hogmanay have announced that Scottish music icons TEXAS will headline the Concert in the Gardens on Tuesday 31 December, welcoming party-people from around the globe to dance their way into 2025 at the world-famous New Year festival. The homegrown heroes announced their Hogmanay headline slot live on stage during their sold-out show at the Glasgow Hydro tonight (Sunday 15th September) and will be joined by special guest Callum Beattie this December, with Concert in the Gardens hosted by award-winning comedian Susie McCabe.

Following a recent run of sell-out arena shows and rave reviews across the UK; including two triumphant sold-out nights at the Glasgow Hydro, Texas' appearance at Edinburgh's Hogmanay 2024, makes them the first band to ever headline the festival three times, and marks their first appearance at Edinburgh's Hogmanay for almost 20 years, having last performed back in 2005.

Fronted by multi award-winning singer-songwriter Sharleen Spiteri, Texas will play beneath the spectacular backdrop of Edinburgh Castle amidst one of the world's greatest New Year firework displays, performing the last show of 2024 and first of 2025, bringing in the bells with a hit filled set of career spanning anthems including I Don't Want a Lover, Say What You Want and Inner Smile.

35 years since 'I Don't Want A Lover' exploded into the charts back in 1989, Texas have gone on to produce ten studio albums, selling over 40 million records worldwide, becoming one of the UK's most enduring and loved bands. Their headline appearance at the Concert in the Gardens will once again make Edinburgh the best New Year party on the planet with a Scottish show like no other at the 'Home of Hogmanay'.

Texas frontwoman Sharleen Spiteri said: "We can't wait to play here for a third time. So get on your glad rags and let's party for the New Year."

Joining Texas at the Concert in the Gardens is very special guest Callum Beattie. Edinburgh-born Callum has progressed from busking outside the city's Usher Hall, to recently selling-out two nights at the iconic venue. A special guest slot at the country's biggest Hogmanay party closes a triumphant year for the singer-songwriter, who's punchy, rousing, emotive and gloriously catchy debut album scored a No.1 in The Official Scottish Albums Chart.

Callum Beattie said: "In just a few years I've gone from selling 30 tickets, to sold out shows including three sold out Barrowlands and two sold out Usher Halls, but being asked to play the Concert in the Gardens at Hogmanay is without a doubt the greatest highlight of my career so far, and to be doing it with Sharleen and the guys just makes it even sweeter. I can't believe it!"

Plus, award-winning comedian Susie McCabe will return to host Concert in the Gardens, leading the country in a countdown to midnight. The winner of 2024's Sir Billy Connolly Spirit of Glasgow Award, Susie McCabe is one of the country's most beloved comedians and a fitting host for the night.

Also on the 31st December, the world-famous Edinburgh's Hogmanay Street Party will this year welcome 45,000 revellers into Edinburgh city centre and Princes Street, to party their way into 2025 with friends old and new from around the world, counting down to the spectacular Midnight Moment from Edinburgh Castle. Revellers will once again enjoy a feast of live music, DJs, international street theatre, thrilling funfair rides, along with delicious food and drink, creating a carnival atmosphere throughout the city centre for one massive outdoor party. Tickets are on-sale now, with full programme details to be announced in the coming weeks.

Edinburgh's Hogmanay 2024/25 is supported by Principal Funding Partners City of Edinburgh Council and Major Partners the Scottish Government's Festivals EXPO Fund and Essential Edinburgh, all working together to create spectacular Edinburgh's Hogmanay celebrations for Scotland.

City of Edinburgh Council Culture and Communities Convener Val Walker said: "The capital's Hogmanay celebration is not only an Edinburgh tradition - it's world renowned.

"It will be wonderful to welcome back the iconic Texas performing a career-spanning set. With Edinburgh's own Callum Beattie joining them as a special guest, I'm delighted that this year's Concert in the Gardens has such a strong Scottish line up. It promises to be a fantastic party to welcome 2025, where gig-goers will have unequalled views of midnight fireworks over Edinburgh Castle.

"Edinburgh will continue to be THE place to welcome in the new year and I look forward to the full Hogmanay programme being unveiled."

Directors of Unique Assembly who create and produce Edinburgh's Hogmanay on behalf of the City of Edinburgh Council said: "We are thrilled to welcome Texas back to headline Edinburgh's Hogmanay, 25 years after their very first appearance at the festival.

"Plus, with the addition of Edinburgh's own Callum Beattie, it's fantastic to have a stellar Scottish line-up for the very last show of 2024 and the first of 2025.

"With a hit-packed show from Texas and the world-famous Midnight Moment from Edinburgh Castle, the Concert in the Gardens will kick-start 2025 with a bang, and give party-goers from around the world the perfect start to the year."

Concert in the Gardens with Texas and special guest Callum Beattie, takes place on Tuesday 31 December 2024 in West Princes Street Gardens, from 9pm to 12.50am.
